

“How Now White Cow” a treat for all

Tom Leitch was a good sport Friday night as he was asked to join the cast of “How Now White Cow” on stage for one of their bits. It was a big hit with the audience and everyone seemed to enjoy the entire show. Saturday night wrapped up the Rivertime Players’ six-night performance but just wait, Toby will be back in town before you know it. From left, Shane Bridges, Shelby Bawcum, Hueston Smith, Emily Keeton, Tom Leitch, Anna Kane Townsend, Jerry Evans and Posey Bridges.

Scenes from “How Now White Cow”

Boo, hiss... goes the crowd every time Darkheart made an appearance but that was a good thing cause he was the villain, played by Toby Show veteran Mark Tubbs.

Toby T. Taylor, played by Shane Bridges and Ida Claire, played by Emily Keeton, share one of the first bits of this year’s show. Bridges, not only plays the part of Toby but also directs the show each year, now 13 times in Parsons. This was Keeton’s first year on stage and displayed not only her acting skills but some mad pipes too.

Pete and Re-Pete, played by Ivan Hobbs and Jerry Evans helped bring “Moments in World History...and you was there” to life with this hysterical bit about the burglar alarm.

You couldn’t tell it was Shelby Bawcum’s first year as she performed like a pro alongside Toby in the “You’re Not Here” bit. The entire cast is to be commended for the months of hard work that is put into the six nights of performances under the Big Tent. If you see one of them out this week, let them know you saw the show and enjoyed it.

Dash, played by Houston Starrett, always made an impact when he was on stage and quickly became a crowd favorite in just his first year with The Rivertime Players.

Attention, attention, Jaelyn Pierce announced bringing all the crew on stage. The youngest cast member then said all she wanted was some attention to which the crowd roared during one of the bits Friday night. Also pictured are Hueston Smith and Shelby Bawcum along with Anna Kane Townsend and Posey Bridges who shared several hilarious bits during the show.

Toby’s younger and “not-so-bright” brother Sturgel, played by Hueston Smith, kept the crowd in stitches with his antics, most of the time including his brother Toby.
